AMERICAN BISHOPS SAIL FOR VATICAN TO TAKE RED HATS

Remarkable Demonstration for Two Prelates Honored at Rome; Crowd at Pier Includes all Creeds

NEW YORK, Mar. 8.—Archbishops Patrick J. Hayes of New York and George W. Mundelein of Chicago sailed on the Bernadina today for Rome where they will be elevated to the rank of Cardinals by Pope Pius XI at a consistory on March 24.

When the prelates, accompanied by their retainers, arrived at the pier shortly before sailing they greeted a crowd of 5,000 persons waiting to bid them good-bye. So dense was the throng and so eager were the people to shake the hands of the cardinals—signifying that the prelates was twenty minutes late in starting off.

Escorted aboard the liner by a squad of police, the archbishops went to the reception where they greeted 5,000 of their well-wishers. Time did not permit the remainder to pass down the revolving line and the impromptu reception was brought to a close.

Archbishop Hayes was on his feet, hand the episcopal mitre which hundreds of parishioners in New York ardently kissed.

"I am more than happy," said Archbishop Hayes to the newspaper men, at the approval of all classes of people, regardless of creed, at the New York district concerning the honor which Pope Pius has conferred on the great hierarchy of New York, Chicago and America.

"I was deeply touched when the statement from the Holy See came to me through The Association of Bishops."

"I believe that the personal element should be eliminated as far as possible on an occasion like this. I believe that it is not an honor that has been bestowed on an individual, but rather upon the official head of the diocese which he represents in the most important in Christendom."

Arriving early this morning to the steps of the Madison Avenue residence they posed for photographers and then boarded an automobile escorted by twenty-one motorcycle police.

The motor with its escort passed through Fifth street where the students of Manhattan College, where both prelates received their early education, gave the college cheer.

On the pier were gathered all the clergy of the New York diocese with thousands of their parishioners, crowded about the two prelates who will return as members of the Sacred College of Cardinals.

"Well, we're sailing," said Archbishop Hayes as he received the congratulations. "I never like to leave home, but I must go. I hope Mundelein didn't like to leave Chicago."

He made his formal statement, but rarely had time to complete it before he was surrounded by clergy and laity. The reception was so hot that he was unable to make a statement.

Lockwood was second high with three points making a total of seven points. He was the opposing team held high score for the evening with two points. THE LONG-PASS FLOOR PLAY
FROM SCRIMMAGE
This is a play which is executed without difficulty from scrimmage because of the ease with which the desired "set up" of the players, almost identical with the tip-off position, is secured. All that is necessary, after one of them secures the ball from scrimmage, is to pass it to the player who will work the play in reverse and turn up the side-line player to him. The one with the ball should be dribbling it. The center has remained back in the territory, ready to receive a long pass. The floor guard immediately follows up the middle of the floor, 25 feet behind the ball as it is passed. The player who has made good a shot should be ready to rebound the ball. When the half ends the score was: N. H. S., 10; M. H. S., 8.

THE HILL SPOTS OF BASEBALL Outlook of the bright spots of baseball that are now the flattening pulse upland down there are a number of individual features in baseball that have a definite appeal apart from the final score.

- 1. "Spot" bats at half-any time during a game. 2. Frank Frisk playing second base. 3. Tris Speaker playing the outfield. 4. Ty Cobb on the bases—in his prime. Here, as a rule, has been used concentrated drama. And one may often get the excitement from Hornby, Eddie Collins, Roush and one or two others.

In the old days there were the grace of Lajoie, the awkward brilliancy of Wagner, the flame of Johnny Evers, the pitching of Matheson and Johnson and Walsh. Not so fast, however. Only a few players remain. But the very first step becomes quickly dimmed in the rush of new features.

Work Started on Cornell's Athletic Field to Increase Capacity

ITHACA, Mar. 4.—Work of enlarging Cornell's athletic stadium, Cornell's athletic field, began to take definite form here this week when workmen employed by the Turner Construction Company began to clear the site.

Control over a few important strokes and confidence in playing these strokes are vital assets in a championship play. Kirkwood could get this by devoting his time to competitive golf. His putting is erratic, due to a tendency to cut across the ball in places of the green, steady follow-through that Hagen uses without any sign of a poke, jerk or stall.

With this victory to start his first season Kirkwood was a hard batter through Florida and Carolina tests where considerable wins can be collected by the winners. The Australian picked up $1,500 at San Antonio, and this is a big score for a golf architect.

Now and then Kirkwood gets going and breaks up the field. In one big hole shot in England last year before the open came on the 19th hole he shot a 20.
