Trading divided after the early spurt in orders and transactions looked up to only about 450,000 shares. Public interest seemed to have been diminished somewhat by the ledge of a group of prominent business men for cooperation with the administration on recovery efforts.

REPUBLIC OR DEMOCRACY?

"For too long a period," complains a reader, "Americans have become entirely too careless in the use of political terms. Statesmen, politicians, lecturers, common people, even educators, have been lauding and defending our 'democracy'."

So an old argument is renewed. It is complicated because one of our big political parties is "Republican" and the other "Democratic," so that partisan prejudices often get into the definitions.

The new Century Dictionary defines "democracy" as "government by the people; a form of government in which the supreme power is vested in the people and exercised by them or their elected agents."

To a man from Mars there wouldn't seem to be much difference between these two concepts. The original "democracies" were Greek city-states where all the citizens voted directly for public officials and measures.

It is necessary, as citizens become more numerous, to delegate more and more of the popular authority, voting for officials who in turn execute, legislate, judge, and appoint other officials.

A columnist who suggested lately that much of the world's current trouble might come simply from "a decay of the simplest and most ancient moral values" has had a remarkable response from the public.

"Is it not true," writes one correspondent, "that the greatest obstacle to the solution of our economic problem is that we take it for granted that fundamentally it is an economic problem? Isn't it true that the economic problem is only a sequel to a deeper problem?"

It is not really a new idea, though it has had far less advertising than the gospel of selfishness in these spells of business depression. There has been a voice here and there lately suggesting that maybe the Golden Rule, as a business principle, was the one thing which could make our system of private capital function again.

Twenty-five tall men of Atlanta, Ga., have united in self-defense. All of them are over six feet tall. They have petitioned the city council to order clearance of six feet six inches between sidewalks and awnings.

"You don't understand, Gary. A husband is not a thing to be bought and sold. He is a person, a person who has a mind and a heart and a soul."

"I don't know what you're talking about, Gary. I'm married to a man who is just what I need. He is a good man, a kind man, a man who loves me."

You and Your Nation's Affairs
A Bill for War Dictatorship
By ERIK MCKINLEY ERIKSSON
Professor of History, University of Southern California

Ever since 1911, the American Legion has been urging upon the Congress the enactment of a bill for war dictatorship.

The President may prescribe and publicly proclaim. Persons engaged in the management or control of any industry, service or undertaking of a national character may be required to furnish information.

Suppliers of the measure are hopeful that the bill will be passed by the 1938 session of Congress. The national commander of the Legion is on record as saying that, if the "opportunity can be seized," the bill will be introduced.

Violation of the act or of any regulation, order, rule, or proclamation promulgated hereunder would be punishable by a maximum fine of $100,000 or imprisonment for one year, or both.

Obviously, the enactment of this bill would put the country under complete executive control during a period of war. The President would be at much of a dictator as he is at present.

The experiences of the World War and the New Deal period should warn the American people not to allow their liberties and subject themselves to a complete one man government.

It is entirely possible "draft into the military service of the United States any person who is a citizen of the United States and thirty-one or more years of age."

"I've seen that kind of kindness too often to fool me," snapped Mrs. Quack. "He probably saw me and he was just making a mistake."

WESTBROOK PEGLER

Mr. Pegler's column gives expression to his personal opinions which may times be at variance with the editorial position of the Evening Leader.

Reorganization Bill Lobbies

There is no reason why the Senate should not investigate the recent telegraphic lobby against the Reorganization bill, but certainly the boys should not be permitted to call it a day after they have finished with the National Committee to Uphold Constitutional Government.

The case cannot be regarded as closed until the statesmen have made an equally thorough and equally hostile and harassing inquiry into the basis, if any, for certain reports which were carried out of Washington on the day of the vote. These reports were much more grave than the mere news that Senators were being swamped with telegrams. They reflected on the sacred honor of the Senate itself, and surely the Senate, wearing its honor on its sleeve, cannot honorably ignore them.

It was reported on that day that White House messengers were busy on the bill and Jimmy Roosevelt, the self-less secretary with the passion for anonymity, incidentally, seems to be in need of a strong aphrodisiac, was mentioned by name as one of those who lobbied for the bill. The others were not mentioned by name. They seemed to be sinister and mysterious figures, but the committee, with all its powers and its talent for gouging facts out of badful victims on the stand, could easily identify them and drag from them the details of their conversations with the statesmen regarding their position on that bill.

Threat of Reprisals Reported
A broad investigation of the news wired out of Washington as the bill went to a vote would have it that Senators were being offered something mighty like bribes to vote for the bill and threatened with reprisals by the administration should they vote wrong. All right, who were the messengers and precisely what did they say to what Senators? What promises did they make? Did the promises, if any, involve chunks of public money for distribution in their States to help the reelection, and if so, why should the committee bother with anything so petty as a mere overnight paper circulation which kicked up a public alarm and whose opinion of the bill later was confirmed by the House of Representatives?

If the investigation is to be thorough and not merely a punishment for opposition, the Senators should now look into the lobbying in favor of the bill. Their loyalty should bring to the stand every member of the Senate and every messenger who approached any Senator that day or any other day during the contest, to tell under oath exactly what was said and what assurances were exchanged. It may be remembered that after the Senate had passed the bill the President remarked that the vote proved they could not be purchased. But it may be remembered further that in view of the reports about the White House lobby, many persons thought and still believe that it proved exactly the opposite.

The committee has powers that newspaper reporters do not have. Yet reporters on the bill observed or were told of the operations of a lobby, which if it had been working in the same way for the other side of the question, would not be laid over a barrel. If the newspaper men could learn about this with their limited privileges, then the Senators must have heard of it, and if the reports are true that some members of the Senate are guilty of withholding information which they ought to volunteer.

The fact that the organization which lobbied against the bill included an "ex-convict" is much less evil than it sounds when it is understood that Dr. Edward A. Rumley, the "ex-convict" was arrested under a war-time Act and was pardoned later. There was an ex-convict in the House of Representatives a few years ago, and there are members of the Senate at present whose records show dealings which, in slightly different circumstances, might have made convicted of them.

So on that score, National Committee to Uphold Constitutional Government need feel only the most nominal embarrassment with respect to Rumley's past, which is immaterial and shouldn't have been mentioned unless the Senate is willing to inspect the career of its own members. If smearing fair play in the investigation, then it should be illegal. Here is a case in which the committee is ignoring reports, apparently based on information available to every Senator. The reports amount to charges that Senators were tempted with inducements or bribes with political punishment. Those Senators and the agents of the lobby are all at hand for questioning any time the Lobby Committee wants to get at the truth.

Collapse of Cards Draws Comments Dugouts

Redbirds Drop 7th In Row, Losing To Cincinnati, 8-7; Team Misses Fight Of Dean

Yankees Expected To Return To Form With DiMaggio In Line-up; Hall Bust Winning Streak

By Gayle Talbot
Associated Press Sports Writer

The amazing collapse of the St. Louis Cardinals at the outset of the National League in the baseball dugouts than the failure of the Yankees to slip off at their customary clip.

The players and managers have a strong hunch that the Yankees are due to start pouring it on the ball about tomorrow, when Joe DiMaggio likely will break into the line-up as a pinch-hitter.

But they don't know about the Cardinals. They suspect that the departure of Dizzy Dean has taken a lot more out of the Birds, mentally and physically, than generally was thought.

They didn't get along with Manager Frankie Frisch, the rival players admit, yet they declare he put them into the Cards and embodied more than any other member of the team the spirit of the "Ochsborne Gang." They say the Cards are going to miss more than Dizzy's pitching, and it begins to look like they're right.

Yesterday, with Ringer Joe Mauer out of the line-up, the Cards dropped their seventh game in eight starts, a 10-game, 4 to 7 defeat to Cincinnati.

The last of the undefeated teams went under as the Chicago Cubs bunched two triples and a single in the tenth to nail Phil-

Home runs by Mel Ott and Jim Hinkle featured the New York Giants 12 to 8 win over the Phillies. Each side scored three pitchers, and one was about as bad as the other.

Jim Turner pitched his second victory for the Boston Bees as they trimmed Brooklyn, 4 to 1, limiting the Dodgers to five hits. There is a strong rumor that the Bees will obtain Buddy Hassert from Brooklyn soon, and if they do they will be hard to head off.

Although their bats still were somewhat muted, the Yankees put on their first big inning of the season to even things with the Philadelphia Athletics by a score of 5 to 3. They did it all in the third, Lou Gehrig driving in run across with double and Joe Gordon, rookie second baseman, hitting one out of the park with one aboard.

Owner Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators continues to chafe at his acquisition of Edouard Bourne. The hefty first baseman threw one in the stand least, averting one in the stands in the seventh round, scoring a mate ahead of him and beating Hugh Marmon of Boston, 6 to 4.

Cleveland won its sixth straight game by a 10 to 2 rout of the St. Louis Cardinals at the Municipal stadium in the American League by placing the Chicago White Sox, 10 to 8, on 18 hits.

Elden Auker of Detroit led the St. Louis Browns down with five hits and beat them, 7 to 1. Ochsborne hit a three-bagger and two singles for the Tigers.

APPROVE TV-A DAM
WASHINGTON—The House finally approved a $231,000 appropriation for starting construction of a huge Tennessee Valley Authority dam near Ochsborne, Ky. The members decided by a 198 to 152 roll call vote, to reverse two earlier decisions and agree to the appropriation which the Senate already had approved.

Jersey City Wins Third In A Row
By The Associated Press
Jersey City won its third straight game yesterday and it's all because the Jersey City Giants are in the first division of the International League. While it's kind of early in the season to celebrate, the loyal followers of the Jersey City Giants are not taking chances. They remember only too well what happened last season and intend making merry while the "Roxie" still are in third place.

To emphasize that this is another year, Jersey City won the third straight game yesterday by edging out the Buffalo Bisons 7 to 5. The triumph, which was the fifth game, placed the Giants a game behind the league-leading Newark Bears who dropped their first decision of the season to Toronto by 6-1, and a half-game in back of the Baltimore Orioles who whipped Montreal 13-4. It was Toronto's first win after four defeats. Rochester and Syracuse wound up in a tie for fourth place behind Jersey City when the Red Wings defeated the Chiefs 6-3. The Red Wings outfit and outplayed the Syracuse club in their third win in the four-game series.

FAVOR MONTANEZ TO WHIP WALLACE IN BOUT TONIGHT

(Fisch) Sid Feder, Eddie Briets NEW YORK—(Fisch) Sid Feder, the greatest right-hand batter in the game has evoked no interest here. He's Rogers Hornsby, in case you haven't heard. He's 40 today.

Feder Montanez is 7 to 3 to take Frankie Wallace at the Hippodrome. Bill Brantley hopes to tell us about the youngest stockholder in baseball—15-month-old Charles Lewis Warner, who is his daddy, Lon of the Cards, gave him a share in the Hot Springs (Colo.) Hotel Club. But Hot Springs isn't a Cardinal term, and Pine Bluff, in the same soap.

It is his treason... Don't look now, but there seems to be something stirring between Mike Jacobs and Seattle's Nat Druckenbier. Nat Druckenbier got Al Hosack, the promising middleweight, to fight for him.

Alfred Montanez's "Senor" (as from way back, writes: In Washington this year, you'll see a team street with the name of the Yanks—except for pitching and batting.

Yankee fans are mourning Lou Gehrig's departed batting average. As the season progresses, they're trotting out the crepe and black for Lou's 13th birthday.

Arrest Of Pro-Nazi Guards In Rumania Represent Another Phase In Duel For Power Between Carol And Codreanu

By DeWitt Mackenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Writer
 NEW YORK — Wholesale arrests in Rumania of pro-Nazi iron guardsmen, charged with plotting against the government, represent just another phase of the remarkable duel for power between the country's two most colorful personalities — King Carol himself, and the fiery chief of the ultra-nationalist Iron Guard, Cornelia Codreanu. The youthful commander — always daring and often rash — has challenged his monarch's absolute power at the end of December.

But the story really starts with Codreanu and not with his majesty, the 38-year-old quartermaster has been leading an anti-Semitic and anti-Communist campaign since his school-days.

Always an exponent of direct action, he has kept himself constantly in the public eye. There is not a firebrand in the land that doesn't know his name. Some compare with it; others speak it with a curse.

Codreanu is the picture-book type of adventurous leader. He is well built and handsome. His wavy, ruffled hair is tossed straight back from a high forehead.

Expressive wide-spaced eyes gleam out from under heavy brows that all but meet. His mouth is generous but firm. And, of course, there must be the square, jutting jaw of the fighter.

Codreanu has made himself felt as a personality and leader since his youth, many of his disciples having been university students. His activities at the outset were largely anti-Semitic.

One of his earliest sensations was in 1924 when he was only 24 years old. He shot and killed the police prefect of Jassy for using great severity in suppressing anti-Jewish student riots. The young chieftain was acquitted, and this increased his following.

In 1924 Codreanu's blood trial a second time in connection with assassination — that of Premier Ion Bratianu. He and 45 of his followers were acquitted, although three young boys were convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment were said to belong to the iron guard.

Codreanu's daring exceeded all bounds in November of 1926 when he served notice on King Carol that if the policies of the government involved Rumania in war on the side of Communism or international Jewry, then the ruler and his cabinet would pay.

The police in 1923 declared they had discovered a "heads shall roll" list which they attributed to the iron guard. This list was said to contain the names of prominent Socialists and Jews.

Over a long period the people of Rumania had been growing uneasy under the pressures of hard times, which many attributed to ineffectual efficiency of government. This discontent boiled up in a most dramatic fashion in the general election of last December.

Codreanu's pro-German ally for fatherland party (successor to the outlawed Iron Guard) won third place in the chamber of deputies with 23 seats. Apparently even the Nazi leader himself wasn't prepared for such strong support. He couldn't take advantage of it.

King Carol, however, was quick to interpret the writing on the wall. He realized that the country was heading towards dictatorship — and he too took the job himself, being tired of the failures of past governments.

Carol is a German by dynasty on this dictatorship.

He not only has the reputation of being a serious, hard-working ruler, but he has demonstrated many times that he is a fighter. Codreanu is tackling a heavy job when he challenges the position of his sovereign.

More Men Than Women Seek Teachers' Licenses

NEW YORK — More men than women are applying for teaching licenses in New York school for the first time in recent years. It was revealed today after 4,500 applicants took tests.

With only 118 positions open, 2,500 men and only 2,000 women applied for the tests, which began Saturday and end today.

English, heretofore the most popular license sought, has dropped to fourth place, history, biology and commercial subjects being favored, Dr. Louis Marks of the Board of Examiners said.

College graduates, unable to find other work, are turning to teaching, Dr. Marks said, in explanation of the large increase of male applicants.

At present nearly 85 per cent of the teachers in the New York schools are women.

Committee Finishes Tax Revision Plan

WASHINGTON — A joint conference committee completed work today on a compromise draft of conflicting Senate and House tax revision bills.

With differences between the two bills composed, Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.) of the Senate Finance committee said the compromise measure "is the most forward step in years toward helping employment by private initiative through a fiscal policy of the federal government."

"The bill gives relief to business," Harrison added, "and should under normal business conditions increase receipts to the government."

The committee earlier had accepted a modified for most the undistributed profits tax, approved by President Roosevelt and condemned by business, and had adopted principles of capital gains taxation which were approved in some business circles.

The group voted to accept House-approved provisions increasing the liquor gallonage tax from $2 to $2.25. It rejected a proposal by Senator Borah (R-Iaho) to make further issues of government securities taxable.

The Borah proposal was turned down, members of the tax conference committee said, because removal of tax exemptions will be considered separately in the weeks following the House recommendations made Monday by President Roosevelt.

Says Swing Music Is Our Current Form Of Imbecility

BINGHAMTON — Swing music is but "our current form of imbecility — an evanescent form of a racket to popularize alleged music," Harry Deal, gray-haired composer-conductor of Pittsburgh, Pa., told the annual convention of the New York Federation of Music Clubs, Inc. Friday.

It will break out again in another couple of years. Modern in popular music are like women's fashions. They change the styles every year so they can sell more."

Corning Property Is Valued At $18,136,856 By Tax Head Preparing Roll For Council

Increase of $285,544 In Assessed-Valuation Is Noted Over Last Year; New Homes and Improvements Cause Gain In Figure; Pension Exemptions Set At $111,710; Valuation for School Taxes Divided

Corning realty is "worth" $18,136,856 in terms of assessment of city property, according to figures compiled for this year's tax roll by Frank H. Suits, commissioner of taxation. Mr. Suits today announced that the assessed valuation of $285,544 over the figure for last year, he said. Mr. Suits pointed out that the gain represents more than 20 new homes, final assessment on recent Corning Glass Works construction, and other new building and major additions by which taxpayers have improved their properties. There has been no general increase in assessments, he said. The assessed valuation of various improvements actually far exceeds $200,000, but the figure of $285,544 is created by the counterbalancing effect of assessment losses from buildings razed, depreciation, and the like. One factor in the increase is about $100,000 in pension exemptions, representing investment in real estate for pension payments which is exempt from the general city tax. The total of pension exemptions has been conservatively set at $111,710. Although not subject to the general city levy, these exempt properties are taxable under other property for highway and other purposes. Thus the $100,000 of city property for highway and school tax purposes is $11,871,100, Mr. Suits said.

Scouts and Game Club Members to Take Part in Program April 30 At Farm, Post Creek Land

Six thousand three-year-old red pine trees will be planted on Corning Club and Game Club property on Saturday, April 30, at the Farm, Post Creek land. The club's reforestation committee, announced today. One of the club's major activities in its conservation program, the tree planting will be done by about 150 Boy Scouts, Scout leaders and members of the Fish and Game Club reforestation committee. Mr. Young said. The committee plans to plant 5,000 of the trees on the western annex to the farm and will plant the remainder on the Post Creek farm. An additional 300 Norway spruce trees will be planted later in the Spring by students. About 60 Scouts from 11 troops in the community will assist in the planting on the farm annex. The work will be supervised by District Commissioner Leon B. Reynolds, District Scoutmaster George Trumbull, Scoutmaster Kenneth Clark and Mr. Young. C. R. Anderson will direct planting on the Post Creek plot, and will be assisted by the Commissioner Fred G. Anderson, Frederick Brooke and a group of 15 boys and six Scouts who will be led by Fritz Barr and others. The trees are being received from the Elmira and Saratoga Springs.

Rural Schools With Small Population Should Consider Temporary Closing

Says State Head Discussing Meetings

Consideration should be given to temporary closing of rural schools with small student population, the Commissioner of Education, Frank P. Graves, advised trustees of common school districts today in communicative sessions for agenda for the annual meeting, May 2. Along the same line, the advised attention to contracting with nearby schools where classes are overcrowded, and called attention to the possibility of reorganization into centralized districts. Transportation, library, recreation and health requirements should be thoroughly discussed, Commissioner Graves said. His communication follows: "The business of the annual school district meeting is your immediate concern. It is your election of officers, provision of sufficient funds to meet the financial needs of the district for the ensuing year, provision for maintenance of school property, provision for necessary supplies and equipment, and action relative to transportation of pupils who otherwise would be deprived of school advantages in whole or in part. It is true that you will go about these duties as school trustees with fixed purpose and mature judgment. Many I suggest that you give attention which it deserves? Do not become disturbed over carpool differences of opinion. True progress is possible only through such differences. "To be selected as trustee should be regarded as an honor and as an opportunity to render public service. The trustee's outstanding contribution will be to select the right type of teacher or teachers. He should seek the best that the district can afford and should look to the district as

Deadline Is May 31 For License Renewal

May 31 is the deadline for renewal of drivers' licenses which expired May 31, 1937, as well as for current one-year chauffeur's licenses, Charles A. Harriet, state commissioner of motor vehicles, pointed out today. He advised all holders of one-year licenses to check carefully to note the expiration date. Since last Fall most drivers' licenses in the state are now on three-year basis, expiring in 1940, but some one-year permits were also issued. Despite the extension granted on last year's licenses, Mr. Harriet said that those who failed to renew last year will lose the privilege unless it is exercised by May 31 of this year. Like-wise he said that no extension of the one-year chauffeur's license will be granted. Only applications for renewals may be obtained at issuing offices on and after May 2, 1938.

Slips And Falls Cause Many Deaths And Injuries

NEW YORK.—Slips and falls were described by A. O. Jackson, insurance supervising engineer, at the graver and cause of accidental deaths and injuries in industry and American homes. Only automobiles killed more people in the United States in 1937, he said, than the 24,540 persons killed by falling. In a speech Wednesday before the ninth annual convention of the Greater New York State Council he asserted falls down stairs and in the number of resulting fatalities. "It falls on level surfaces also are often fatal," Lead people on the office floor," said Jackson. "They are caused by trips from in any other foreign article. "Dr. Wallace A. Mannheim of Columbia University, speaking against the use of women swimming suits in pools as a real source of contamination of the water and a danger of infection to the bather. "As for me," he said, "I would never take a hired woman bathing suit or any hired bathing suit that had not been oil-

To Stick On Days Living Off The Land

STAR LAKE.—An Alton "Dipper" Draper's moccasins are "just about worn out" but he says he's going to "stay in the woods" six days more with only a hunting knife as a weapon. The 32-year-old past Indian, Aditnickaug, "looks good" to N. P. McLaughlin, a Corning, N. Y., friend who visited him at his bark house a good six hour hike from here. The guide entered the woods April 3 from the announced intention of living off the land for 30 days. He built his fires by the agitated board friction method, and expected to prove any fellow woodsman lost in the woods could survive for weeks if settled in a log-cabin.

Parking Ban in Market Street Alleys To Be Enforced Says Chief Eckess

The parking prohibition in alleys flanking Market street is going to be strictly enforced, Chief of Police A. W. Eckess announced today. Fire prevention is the main reason for the order, he said. He stated that he has ordered "no parking" signs which will be erected soon in the alleys. He said that the signs on Market street from Cedar to Walnut streets. No motor vehicle of any nature can be left in these alleys after the signs are posted, he said. A recent Common Council ordinance forbade parking in the alleys throughout the city, the chief pointed out. However, he said, many persons have continued to leave cars in the alleys, and especially those just off Market street. Many fire trucks must use these alleys in making deliveries, the chief pointed out. "Most important of all is the fire question," Chief Eckess said. "Some day we may find ourselves in a serious trouble when the fire trucks have to go down those alleys to

Road Police Outnumbered 7,000 To 1 By Persons Driving Motor Vehicles

WASHINGTON—State highway patrolmen were outnumbered at least 7,000 to 1 by persons who drive motor vehicles and are more than 4,000 registered vehicles for each officer whose name appears on the active-service list of a state patrol.

State provisions governing scope of laws enforced by highway patrolmen very greatly, the report reveals. Only 12 states, in their officers to enforcement of motor laws exclusively. Twenty-three states authorize their patrolmen to enforce other laws while giving primary attention to enforcement of motor statutes. In 12 other states, the patrol are used for general law enforcement. Only Florida has no state highway patrol.

HAMILTON ST. PAINTED POST

Throughout the upper Great Plains region, grasshopper eggs remain in excellent condition, with signs of a bit of hatching, according to the Insect Pest Survey Bulletin of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. In certain areas the eggs have begun to hatch. Reports from parts of Oklahoma, Texas, Utah, Arizona, and Southern California indicate that about 100,000 grasshoppers had hatched by the first of the month. The hoppers' close relative, the Mormon cricket, began to hatch in mid-January in parts of Nevada and in February in parts of Montana. During March the cricket eggs were hatching in parts of Wyoming, Utah and Washington.

While grasshoppers destroyed about 600,000 acres of wheat in south-central Kansas, they have done some damage in Oklahoma. The army cutworm is becoming numerous in Kansas and Oklahoma. There have been heavy flights of armyworm moths in Virginia, Indiana, Missouri and Oklahoma.

The chinch bug, which had a favorable winter in Illinois, Iowa, and Oklahoma, has been seen flying in Oklahoma. Local outbreaks of green bug are reported from Stillwater, Okla., and from south western Oklahoma. This bug already has damaged crops in northwestern Texas.

Missouri and Kansas have had light infestations of bean fly. The corn ear worm seems to have overwintered successfully on Long Island, N. Y. And in Utah, its eggs have been found in central Texas. The pea aphid has been seen in Illinois, Virginia, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Texas, and Washington.

The codling moth apparently passed the winter successfully over most of its range. In Georgia and Delaware, it has started to emerge from the first stage of its life cycle (the larval stage) to the second stage (the pupal stage) from which the egg-laying moths will emerge with the coming of warm weather. In these two states also the oriental fruit moth larvae have begun their transformation into pupae. In the Fort Valley section of Georgia, plum erucoid adults, appearing in the first week in March, had reached considerable numbers by the middle of the month. They put in an appearance also in Albemarle County, Virginia, late in March.

The green citrus aphid was out in large numbers in central Florida in the first week in March. By the middle of the month, however, it had subsided, apparently impeded by the Chinese lady beetle, a natural enemy of aphids. There were enough vegetable

Writer Surprised That Play Won Fellowship

PHILADELPHIA — The Bureau of Better Plays awarded her a $1,000 fellowship for her play, "These Your Children," but 21-year-old Helen Hanft insists "it's the kind of a play I'd walk out on."

The drama about life in a college sorority house was "the worst ever written by anybody anywhere," said Helen.

She was surprised that a comedy she wrote "On Kids in a Fifth-rate Business School" didn't win a prize.

"I liked that much better personally, because it was kind of a satire on the system 'turns unimpaired girls into snobs and bigots.'"

"These Your Children" is designed to show that the sorority system "turns unimpaired girls into snobs and bigots."

Tobacco flea beetles are out from their winter quarters in Tennessee, South Carolina, and Virginia. Up to April first they had done very little damage.

Expect Over 100 BPW to Receive At FFA Banquet Concession Bids

More than 100 are expected for the Third Annual Banquet of Corning Future Farmers, to be held at O'Clock tonight in the Northside High School cafeteria.

Corning Future Farmers is composed of vocational agriculture students at Northside High School.

The meal will be served by mothers and sisters of the boys, while the sons and fathers dine and listen to a program of music, toasts, and talks. Principal speaker is A. K. Geiman, chief of the agricultural education bureau of the State Education Department.

Bids will be received at the next meeting of the Board of Public Works, May 9, on the refreshment concession at Denison Park. Advertisement for proposals for the Summer season was authorized by the BPW at its regular meeting Tuesday.

Three more applications for appointment as lieutenants for the Park swimming pool were received. The applicants are Howard Wheeler, Albert Loynt and Lyman Stone.

Superintendent George E. Wright was authorized to test the unaged water line over the Pine street bridge to see what is necessary to do to repair leaks which caused the line to be torn out of commission some time ago.

The laboratory report on tests of water samples showed no contamination in any samples for the week of April 29 and the following week.

The Board informally discussed Corning's flood control needs with a view to formulating suggestions to be presented at Saturday's flood meeting at the State Armory.

Miss Ruth Holden of Auburn is the candidate for vice chairman.

Nominee for state president is Alfred L. Simon of Ballston Spa.

"Daddy might fall out!"

A five-year-old was talking to her father on the telephone. As the mouthpiece was a little above her reach, her mother tipped it down toward her.

"Oh, don't do that, Mother!" the child exclaimed. "Daddy might fall out!"

So great has been the progress in clarity of transmission that even many adults never cease to marvel at the way the telephone makes people seem to be right in the next room. That's why, next to seeing someone, a telephone call is the most personal means of communication.

And the cost is trifling when weighed against the satisfaction it gives you. New York Telephone Company.
